I had a dream that I was climbing a high mountain with many other people. As I continued climbing to the top, the path was becoming more narrow and winding. I looked around and saw only a few people continuing to climb. I was discouraged and wondered what happened to the rest of the people that started this journey. When I looked back toward the base of the mountain, I noticed that's where most of the people were. As I was getting very close to the top and could see it, the dream ended.

Interpretation-

God's Spirit is still speaking such words to God's called-out people today. As we climb to the higher places of God's kingdom, reaching to know Christ and to see Him as He is, we are finding that the way becomes more difficult and narrower. Many who began this journey and climb with us, find it too hard to keep on going. This is a word to inspire us and encourage us to keep looking forward and upward to the goal.
