

Eternal Victuals

I am reminded of a vision that I had some years back. The vision was of Alice (in Wonderland) dressed in her blue dress with white pinafore. She was bending over looking at something that appeared to me to be on the floor. I had to familiarize myself with the story. Fortunately, I had a copy of the book, and quickly discovered what was going on there. What I found was incredibly wonderful.

Alice was closed in, trapped in a place (inside the trunk of a large tree), where the only way out was through a tiny door only inches tall. Looking around for a solution to this problem, she saw on a table, a plate holding a small cake and a glass holding a liquid of some kind. In front of the cake was a sign that read “EAT ME” and in front of the glass a sign that read “DRINK ME”. That was her solution provided for getting small enough to go THROUGH THE DOOR (“I must decrease”).

I was given understanding of the only practice necessary to go through the “narrow gate” and for life. Jesus explained it, “Do not work for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to eternal life... I am the bread of life, he who comes to Me shall not hunger and he who believes in Me shall never thirst... unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in yourself.”

“If any one wishes to come after Me, let Him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me.”

He told His disciples, “I have food to eat that you don’t know about.”
