

I've Given You

I've made thee a new vessel
And given you a Name.
I've set a path before you
That will banish every pain.

I've given thee a Song
And blotted out all wrong.
The new life has now begun.
Rejoice beloved one.

When your eyes behold the view of the things I have for you.
The cup of love and blessing
Will be the healing and the dressing
For the wounds of those professing
Their desire to be set free!
