

What Do We Believe?

For several years now I have been speaking on “why do you believe what you believe.” Most of what we believe has come from what we have been taught which has caused great division among people. The two greatest causes that create division are religion and politics. Most people believe that either religion or politics can save our country from destruction. The truth is to follow either one of them can cause destruction. For instance, if you are a Republican you probably watch Fox News and believe everything they say about Hillary Clinton. If you are a Democrat you probably watch and believe everything that CNN says about Donald Trump.

It is almost unbelievable how we let the news media form our beliefs without really knowing the truth. Politics keeps the country divided. Divide and conquer has been the theme of both religion and politics. Carol and I have not voted for years because we know that the leaders of Democrats and Republicans are two sides of the same coin. We have lived under a false belief that the American people get to choose their presidents by voting. The truth is you get to choose between the people that the elite that really run this country want to be in control.

Jesus said, “my kingdom is not of this world,” yet many people believe if we get a Christian in the White House things would be much better. There is nothing anyone can do to bring the kingdom into this world. Most have not yet learned that good and evil are from the same tree. The kingdom is a spiritual realm having nothing to do with the kingdoms of this world.

The only way we can truly know the truth is to hear it from within our own being. Each of us like Jesus must become the truth and then we do not rely on getting our information from outside sources. When you are living from your spiritual resources you do not fight and argue with those who have different concepts and opinions. If your beliefs are solely based on what you learned from Fox News or CNN or your particular denomination you tend to be very divisive to anyone who has a different belief or opinion. Christians can say very hurtful things to those who do not believe like them. Carol and I sometimes have to remove our posts because hurtful things are said to those who disagree with one another. Beloved let us love one another for love is of God.
